About Our Organization

Wolfe's Neck Center for Agriculture & the Environment is on a mission to transform our relationship with farming and food for a healthier planet. We are a nonprofit education and research center situated on 626 acres of farmland, forest, and coast in Freeport, Maine. Our campus consists of an organic dairy program, livestock barns, diversified fruit and vegetable production, an oceanfront campground, and miles of wooded hiking trails. As a working farm located within a unique mix of ecosystems, we offer a remarkable and inspiring place for visitors of all ages to learn and play.

Farm Camp

Farm Camp is a summer day camp program for children ages 4-16. Campers engage in hands-on learning about sustainable agriculture and the environment while taking care of livestock, tending our gardens, and exploring nearby ecosystems. Each year, we host hundreds of campers from the local community and out of state. The Farm Camp season runs from June 20 - August 26, 2022. As a Farmward Bound 2/Farm Crew Leader, you will serve as a mentor and coach as teens learn different leadership styles through farm & wilderness experiences. Programs will focus on group building, leadership & communication skills, and agriculture/environmental education and ethics. To be effective, counselors must have a genuine interest in building their capacity as a positive role model through teaching applicable skills & practices.
