About Our Organization

Wolfe's Neck Center for Agriculture and the Environment is dedicated to transforming relationships between farming and food for a healthier planet. We are a farm-based education, research, and visitor center situated on 626 acres of farmland, forest, and rocky coast in Freeport, Maine. Our campus consists of an organic dairy program, livestock barns, fruit and vegetable production, an oceanfront campground, and miles of wooded hiking trails. As a working farm located within a unique mix of ecosystems, we offer a remarkable and inspiring place for visitors to learn, play, and connect while empowering people of all ages to engage with their food.

Farm Camp

At Farm Camp, kids engage in hands-on learning that immerses them in sustainable agriculture and the environment. From caring for livestock, tending (and tasting) what is in our gardens, and exploring our surrounding ecosystems, campers fill their days with discovery. While emphasizing play, exploration, and farm-based activities, campers try new things, gain confidence, and grow in their individual relationship with farming and food. Each year, we host hundreds of campers ages 4-15 from the local community and out-of-state. The Farm Camp season runs for 10 weeks from June 17 to August 23, 2024.

Role & Responsibilities

Farm Camp Counselors will be responsible for the following:

- Co-supervise one of the following age groups: Buds (age 4), Peapods (age 5), Sprouts (ages 6-7), Seedlings (ages 8-9), or Farm Kids (ages 10-11)
 - Note: Our 12+ campers participate in a different program called Farmward Bound/C.H.E.F.
- Lead farm-based education activities, providing appropriate structure and supervision
 - Activities are hands-on and inquiry-based and include daily farm chores, gardening, soil science, cooking, and wool crafts - these can be taken from existing curriculum or created and implemented by staff.
- Create and lead activities based on interests and experiences for mixed age groups during afternoon "Choice Time".
 - See copy of the general schedule under our "Farm Camp Schedule" FAQ.
- Communicate daily updates and concerns regarding camp or campers to the Farm Camp Leadership Team
- Connect with parents and caregivers with updates, answering general questions, and providing behavioral notes as required
- Act as a role model and support for Junior Counselors
- Participate in staff training, weekly staff meetings, and miscellaneous duties that contribute to the day-to-day operation of the camp including set up and clean up of all daily supplies and equipment.
- Implement all camp policies and expectations that help foster an environment of mutual respect, safety, support, and engagement for all campers
- Provide and document basic first aid according to camp policy and level of training
